

THIRTY DEAD OR MISSING AFTER DANCE FLOOR FALLS

Divers Employed to Recover Bodies From Buckeye Lake After Disaster—Victims Attending Colored Lodge Meeting.

Buckeye Lake, O., Aug. 8.—Five divers at daybreak this morning resumed their search in the waters of Buckeye lake, for bodies of persons missing since the collapse last night of part of the dancing pavilion that extended out over the lake. The dead and missing were among thirty or more persons, hurried into the water grave as the floor at the south end of the dance hall collapsed under the weight of a large number of dancers seeking their wraps in the checkroom. The crowd became panic-stricken. Men, women and children seemed to be "sucked down" into the lake. Screams were heard throughout the park as those being drawn into the water grabbed others nearby, pulling them beneath the watery surface.

The list of dead so far obtainable: Miss Lucy Linn, Martis Ferry, O. Miss Josephine Hall, Moxahala Ave, Zanesville.

Hazel Ramey, 19, Zanesville. Lowell Powell, 9, Chillicothe. Mrs. Myrtle Ford, Lancaster. Jerry Wright, Columbus.

Mrs. Albert Dickinson, Ohio Ave., Columbus.

The missing:

Miss Edna Claire, Lancaster, O. Miss Cora Shackelford, Columbus.

Katie Houston, Circleville, O. Bessie Johnson, Circleville.

One more dead is believed to be in the water.

The injured:

Miss Emma Crump, Cambridge, O. Mrs. George Watkins, Coshocton.

Thelma Burton, Lancaster.

The victims, all colored, were from all parts of the state and were attending the annual picnic of the I. B. P. O. E. of Zanesville. Winding up the day's program a happy and weary group made their way to the dance hall a large crowd gathering on the floor.

At the close of one of the dances at 8:20 p. m. a large crowd congregated near the checkroom. Witnesses said that the floor swayed a little, then cracked like the sound of a pistol. Then the victims began to slide into the water.

Miss Mary Treib, a young girl of sixteen, who was operating a concession near the hall, heard the screams of those drowning, leaped into the water, and succeeded in saving several women and children. Others also leaped into the water and saved those who managed to keep themselves above water.

A call was immediately sent for divers and a squad of deputy sheriffs from Newark took care of the large crowd that gathered.

The first victim was removed from the water shortly after the floor caved in. The remainder were then brought out at intervals of ten to thirty minutes.

Several of the injured were rushed to the Newark hospital where their condition was said to be not serious.

A scene of pathos was witnessed as the divers searched for victims. A hearse stood outside the dance hall, while within, several wicker caskets were lined along the floor.

A young man entered the park near the lake and inquired for a woman. When told that she had drowned, the youth collapsed and was placed under a physician's care.

Divers were of the opinion that several more bodies would be recovered today.

TWENTY THOUSAND VISIT FAIR ON THE "BIG DAY" THURSDAY

Twenty thousand people attended the Greene County Fair Thursday, the annual "big day" of the fair, according to unofficial estimates given by fair officials.

The attendance total does not set a record, as the number is slightly lower than last year, while last year's attendance was lower than the year before. The number is considerably lower than the peak year of 1920, when the attendance broke all records and 28,000 were on the grounds on Thursday of fair week.

Good weather greeted the thousands who wended their way through the grounds Thursday, while showers Wednesday evening contributed their share towards laying the dust, and making the track fast as lightning.

Picnickers were much in evidence over the grounds while the exhibits, displays and various sorts of amusements were well attended by the pleasure-seeking populace.

The Red Cross booth in the main art hall was kept busy throughout the day giving demonstrations on child care. Health charts and valuable statistics were offered patrons by the nurses in charge while much information regarding the care of the young was given.

The state health exhibit also proved popular with the fairgoers who took great interest in the moving pictures accompanied by health talks giving demonstrations and figures on certain diseases and their preventatives.

A sea of race fans packed the big grandstand and lined the fences and quarter stretch to witness the races which were run off in fine shape.

Good weather has also been forecast for Friday, the final day of the fair.

DEFENSE WILL CLOSE CASE BY MONDAY, SAID

Darrow Will Only Use Few More College Friend Witnesses.

Criminal Court, Chicago, Aug. 8.—Counsel for the defense in the Leopold-Loeb trial changed their tactics today.

At a conference of the lawyers who are seeking to save the two collegians from the gallows, it was decided to put on the witness stand "only a few more" of the large number of lay witnesses, college classmates and friends of the boys, who were summoned to testify concerning the so-called oddities and eccentricities that marked their school careers.

This decision will enable the defense to close its case by Monday, according to Clarence Darrow, chief of the defense counsel. Two more alienists, it was said, probably will be put on to testify the mental condition of "Babe" and "Dickie."

The first witness put on the stand today was Dr. Robert Bruce Armstrong, the Loeb family physician at Charlevoix, Michigan, who testified that he had treated Loeb several years ago, when the boy had a series of fainting spells following an automobile accident.

"Were these spells normal or abnormal?" asked Darrow.

"I thought they were the result of the accident," replied the physician. States Attorney Crowe apparently considered Dr. Armstrong's testimony so unimportant that he did not cross examine him at all.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Testifying for the defense at the hearing of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, Miss Lorraine Nathan, 18, was questioned at length.

She said she had known Loeb "very well," that she went with him to parties and dances, and that he often called at her house. She told of Loeb acting in a peculiar manner at her home, and said at one time she remarked to her sister that Loeb, who had bragged of drinking, appeared to be acting very young. "My sister said: 'That isn't acting young, that's acting cuckoo!'"

Miss Nathan said she went auto riding with Loeb on Feb. 29, 1924; that he drove recklessly and nearly had several accidents. "I pleaded with him to drive more carefully, but he only laughed at me," said the girl.

In June, 1923, the witness said, Loeb made a trip to Birmingham. Before he left, she said, she noted he appeared irrational and irresponsible. "We had a quarrel and I told him if he was going to continue that way, our relationship would have to be changed—that I would be willing to be like a sister to him, but nothing more. He tried to get one of his friends to intercede for him and finally we had a date. This time he seemed very haggard and nervous."

Darrow then turned the witness over for cross-examination, and States Attorney Crowe began questioning her regarding her friendship with Loeb.

"I suppose Dickie was fond of you?" Crowe asked. "I think he was."

"And you were fond of him?" "I was."

"Are you still fond of him?" "No, of course not—not in that way."

"Being a lady, of course, you would not lie to help him, would you?" "I would not."

The girl drew back in a startled manner when Crowe charged up to the witness stand with a huge volume containing a statement Lorraine made shortly after the arrest of the slayers. Crowe said he wanted to show the difference between her statement to him and the testimony she was giving.

Wrangle Follows.

Darrow objected as Crowe stood beside the girl and placed the volume before her. A heated wrangle followed, during which Crowe said: "I have a perfect right to show whether a witness is perjuring himself or herself."

Justice Caverly then ordered the attorneys to prepare their arguments on the question.

Max Schrayner of Chicago, a student of the University of Michigan at the time Loeb attended the university, declared on the stand that his impression was that Loeb was "childish in his actions."

State's Attorney Crowe asked Schrayner whether he had not, in a conversation with the state's attorney, given his opinion that young Loeb was "perfectly sane and normal?" "I can't say that I recall that," the witness replied.

"Don't you remember being questioned by the state's attorney?" "Yes, sir, I do."

"And you don't remember telling us this?" "I remember saying I thought Loeb was sane, but I don't remember saying anything about his being normal."

Crabbe Withholds Reply.

Columbus, Aug. 8.—Attorney General C. C. Crabbe again declined to reply to the charges of Commerce Director Cyrus Locher that his fight against the blue sky commission and the Ohio Industrial Endowment Fund company was prompted by political motives. The attorney general declared that he would issue a statement after he had appeared before the grand jury as a witness, but until that time he would have no comment to make.

WILL SHE BE AMERICA'S FIRST WOMAN GOVERNOR?

Mrs. Marion A. Ferguson, of Temple, Texas, wife of ex-Governor James Ferguson, shown here with her two daughters, may be the first woman Governor in the United States. Her husband was impeached and driven from office as Governor, and she ran in the initial primaries this year to vindicate his name. She ran second, and under the Texas laws the two leading candidates are the only candidates in the runoff of the primaries. Ex-Governor Ferguson, who managed his wife's campaign, is leading the fight to secure the election for her.

Rise In Farm Prices has not led farmer "Out of Woods" Truax says in warning

(Editors Note: In an effort to learn precisely what the effect of recent advances in price of certain farm products will have upon the purse of the farmer, International News Service sought the opinions of notable high in state agricultural circles. This is one article of the series.)

BY CARL L. TURNER.

I. N. S. Correspondent.

Columbus, O., Aug. 8.—Although disclaiming any attitude of pessimism, Charles V. Truax, director of agriculture in an exclusive interview with International News Service today, declared the recent advance in corn, wheat and hogs prices has by no means led the farmer "out of the woods" and urged that "undue optimism" be guarded against.

"The press has been deluged with reports that prosperity has returned to the farmer, that farm mortgages are being paid off, that automobiles are being purchased, and that the farmer, figuratively is well and happy," Director Truax recalled.

"All of this is untrue and should be discouraged," he said, "since it causes many of our citizens, unfamiliar with conditions, to really believe the farmer is prosperous and actually making money again."

"It is undeniable, however," Truax conceded, "that the advance in prices of certain of his products will have a very evident positive effect upon the morale of the farmer and that it will give him renewed courage to carry on. Farmers who are selling their wheat today for $1.25 a bushel undoubtedly will be benefited financially and greatly encouraged," the director of agriculture said.

"But, what the agriculturist wants to know," he added, "is what the price of wheat will be for the next twelve months—that will corn be worth when he has his crib full and ready to sell, and what will hogs be worth this fall and next spring when he has them fat and ready for market?"

"The advance in wheat to the producer, approximately thirty five cents a bushel more than year—on a normal crop means about $224,000,000 more to wheat growers than last year. But when this sum is divided among 6,448,343 farm in the United States, it doesn't mean so much."

"While the farmers are extremely grateful for these advances, yet to bring agriculture products to a common level with other commodities today, wheat should be netting the producer $1.50 per bushel, hogs 12 cents per pound, cattle the same price and other products in proportion."

Back of the entire American agriculture problem, according to Truax, is the ever present lack of a common level of agricultural commodities with those of other industries and labor.

Normally, he said, the amount invested in farms and equipment in the United States represents a total of seventy eight billion dollars, while the total investment in other industries combined only represents a total of seventy three billion dollars."

Other industries were said to be profiting at the expense of the agrarian while agriculture is bigger than all other industries combined. Prosperity thus derived, therefore, cannot be permanent, or, to use the words of Director Truax, "it is a plain case of the tail wagging the dog."

The reasons for these unequal conditions, he said, is the fact that there has been established in this country a system of protection and stabilization for the government for all industries save agriculture, referring to tariff, the interstate commerce commission and utilities commission.

"However when farmers seek legislative relief," Truax continued, "it is said he is suffering from an economic ail and therefore cannot be cured by a legislative remedy, yet all other industries have cured their economic ills by similar remedies."

Co-operative marketing associations, which he said, are rendering valuable service to the producer, without increasing the cost to the consumer, will help solve the problem, the agriculture official opined, but he said it was a certainty they could not cure the ill.

"The farmer does not seek special privilege or favors," he declared. "He asks neither bonus nor subsidy, but he does ask for a square deal."

"It is high time that prices of farm products were advanced to a common level with those of the commodities necessary to his existence. Two years more of the drastic inflation through which the farmer has passed would be too dark to picture."

"But until these cooperative levels are reached, or the cost of operating expenses, commodities and taxes are reduced and equalized the farmer will not attain that degree of prosperity rightfully his by reason of agriculture being America's foremost and greatest industry."

LAFALLETTE TAKES STAND

Washington, Aug. 8.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette, independent candidate for the presidency, announced today that he was opposed to the Ku Klux Klan. The announcement was made in a letter to Robert P. Scripps, of New York City, who has inquired as to LaFollette's attitude.

Washington, Aug. 8.—Evacuation of the Ruhr was the most difficult task confronting the allied reparations conference today and it may prolong the sessions into the middle of next week. Optimism was expressed in all circles, however, that it would be solved satisfactorily.

Committees of experts began work early in the day on the proposals of conference committee number two—dealing with economic evacuation of the Ruhr—and number three—dealing with transfers of reparations from the Germans to the allies. It was hoped that an agreement could be reached before night.

This agreement will be submitted to the council of fourteen.

LARGEST RAIL MERGER BEING PUSHED AHEAD

Plan Includes Absorption Of Four Roads By Nickel Plate.

New York, Aug. 8.—Plans were going forward today for what is said to be the largest railroad merger in history, the absorption by O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, owners of the Nickel Plate system, of four other railroad properties. The proposed consolidation, an outline of which became known today, involves $1,500,000,000 capital and nearly 11,000 miles of track.

The roads to be taken over by the Nickel Plate—the New York, Chicago and St. Louis, are the Erie, Pere Marquette, Chesapeake and Ohio and Hocking Valley, Wheeling and Lake Erie with the Pittsburgh and West Virginia may be taken in later, it was reported, although not mentioned in the preliminary announcement.

The method by which the merger is to be consummated will be through exchange of stock and through leased of physical properties and is subject to the approval of the interstate commerce commission.

The method of the proposed merger are to be submitted to the various boards of directors at meetings to be called immediately and formal offer will be made to stockholders before the end of the month, it was said.

Larger stockholders of each of the roads involved, it was said, have agreed to the terms.

The Nickel Plate company stock, it was said, would be issued in two classes, a six per cent cumulative preferred stock and a common stock to be put on a six per cent dividend basis from the time of issue.

The general terms to be offered stockholders of the various roads are said to be as follows: For Erie first and second pfd. stocks, fifty per cent in preferred stock of the new company; for Erie common forty per cent in new common stock; for Pere Marquette, prior preference stock 100 per cent in new preferred stock; for Pere Marquette pfd. stock 80 per cent in new preferred stock, for the common stock 85 per cent in new common stock; for Chesapeake and Ohio six and a half per cent preferred stock, 115 per cent in new 6 per cent pfd. stock; for Chesapeake and Ohio common stock 55 per cent in new common stock; for Hocking Valley common stock now owned in controlling amount by the Chesapeake and Ohio fifty per cent in new six per cent preferred stock and fifty per cent in new common stock.

London, Aug. 8.—Germany has accepted in full the allied proposals for settlement of the reparations questions on the basis of the Dawes recommendations, it was announced here.

The acceptance includes the allied declarations regarding possible defaults on the part of the government of the reich and the methods of imposing penalties for such defaults.

The council of 14 adopted the full text of the report of the first committee of the interallied conference.

In addition the Germans accepted a moral engagement to float a loan of £40,000,000, thereby fulfilling one of the most important of the reparations commission's requirements before the Dawes plan can be considered effective.

Another important development was an agreement between the allies and Germans, under which the Dawes plan can be enforced 10 days earlier than Oct. 15, the date which had been agreed upon.

It was explained that the American embassy here that Ambassador Kellogg's letter announcing that the United States will participate in the proposed conference of ministers of finance in Paris after the conclusion of the London reparations parley does not mean that the United States is willing to discuss interallied war debts.

The United States refuses to discuss war debts at this time, maintaining they are definite financial obligations which do not admit of discussion except as to the manner in which they shall be paid.

It is understood here that the Paris conference will be confined only to discussion of the distribution of German reparations. The United States is particularly interested in this issue due to money owing on account of the upkeep of the United States army of occupation on the Rhine.

Every effort is being made to speed up the work of the allied reparations conference. A committee of experts is examining the German reply, while representatives of England, France, Belgium and Germany are conferring informally upon questions which are regarded as being outside the scope of the formal conference. Chief of these questions is evacuation of the Ruhr.

One feature of the German communication which is engaging much attention from the experts' committee is the request for greater German representation upon the arbitration boards.

FAIR GOERS ORDERLY
POLICE OFFICIALS SAY; FEW ARRESTS

The good order being maintained during fair week is unprecedented, according to police officials.

Accidents, traffic jams and other minor offenses usually incurred during congestion caused by the fair are few and far between this year, it is said.

The strict traffic regulations which are being laid down and upheld by officers is given as a reason for the absence of law violations.

Automobiles and vehicles going to the fair are required to travel by way of Detroit Street, while those returning from the festivities may come in to town by way of King or Galloway Streets.

Speeding and reckless driving is being closely watched with the result that there is little chance for infringement of the traffic rules.

Contrary to former years, the traffic in the business section of the city has not been as congested as is usually the case due no doubt to the late harvesting season which has kept many of the farmers away from town.

Mrs. John Proust and Mrs. Samuel Proust, of Cincinnati, are the guests of Mrs. L. F. Drake, of Dayton Ave., and Mrs. Ella Nisonger, of North Galloway Street.

TELL GIRLS

And Women What I Do For You
By Edna Wallace Hopper
My office sends me countless letters which thank me for new beauty and new youth. Please don't do that. Just tell to other girls and women what you've found.

..I am simply passing on to others what a great scientist gave me. The helps that made me a famous beauty, then kept my youth and beauty to grand old age.

Those helps number 52, but I have had them combined in four preparations. When you use any one of them you apply quite a number of the best beauty helps in existence.

One is a cold cream which I call my Youth Cream. It combines products of both lemon and strawberry. Also all the best that science knows to foster, feed and protect the skin. I use it as a powder base. Never is my skin without it. I have never heard of a cream which brings anything like its results.

Now I am placing my Youth Cream—just as I use it—at every woman's call. All druggists and toilet counters supply it at 60c per jar. Also in 35c tubes. Just ask for Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream. I promise you that as long as you live you'll be very glad you know it, and I shall be glad for you.

I will send you a sample to try, of you wish. Also my Beauty Book. Just mail this coupon. For beauty's sake, do it now.

Republicans!

"We Will Win With White!"

The fulfillment of this prophecy depends on you.

Jim White is today the outstanding candidate in a field of eight seeking the Republican nomination for governor.

The one thing that makes a logical appeal to all Republicans is this: Success at the primaries will be a hollow victory unless followed by a victory at the polls in November.

The issue for Ohio Republicans to decide is, "who can restore Republican rule in a Republican state as the standard bearer of the party?"

The answer that thousands of practical political workers are giving is—"Jim White." Not only a wonderful organizer, schooled in the art of politics, he is a shrewd, careful, forceful lawyer, possessed of almost infinite energy, a dogged, relentless determination, yet possessed of the softer and more generous qualities which make friends and hold them.

Since the very inception of the campaign, Jim White has been the outstanding candidate. The batteries of every headquarters have been turned against him in an effort to loosen his hold on the loyalty and affection of the good citizens of Ohio. But against all the tides of opposition, against the campaign of misrepresentation by his ancient enemies, his candidacy has grown.

Today the drift toward White is steadily mounting. Republicans are rapidly being converted to the view that White's availability is pre-eminant because of the chances of success in November with him as the standard bearer.

The primary election is nearly important, but incidental. The real goal of the Republican party of Ohio lies some months ahead. Realizing this, it is little wonder that even the practical, seasoned politicians of the party are aiming at this conclusion:

"We Will Win With White!"

DR. MESSENGER FOR SENATOR

Republicans of the fifth-sixth senatorial district, of which Greene County is a part, are witnessing a three cornered race for the office of state senator. Their attention has been directed, during the campaign to the candidacy of three men, Dr. A. C. Messenger, prominent local physician, and man high in the regard of the citizenship of his own, and other counties; L. T. Marshall, long prominent in factional politics of Greene County, and H. H. Darst, Beavercreek Township farmer, and former Dayton bank president.

The result of this triangular contest will be decided at the polls next Tuesday, August 12, at which time voters in five counties, Highland, Greene, Ross, Clinton, and Fayette, will cast their ballots for one of the three candidates.

The race has not been without its fireworks. There has been some mudslinging, and the usual attempts to discredit opponents with the voters, but in the main the contest has been without untoward sensation. Most interesting to the followers of the three contestants has been the remarkable headway made by Dr. Messenger, who by dint of sheer ability and perseverance has established himself with the voters of the district. The gains made by the physician are considered the more unusual because of the absence of organization support. His campaign has been of the personal sort, a direct appeal to the voters, and he has, through his own personality and influence of many friends, attracted to his standard a large following in the district.

Friends say his nomination is certain; that he will carry without doubt three of the five counties in the district, and has an excellent chance to walk away with honors in the remaining two. That, however, will be shown when the votes are counted. In the meantime interest centers in qualifications of the three respective candidates, a study of which seems to throw the honors to Dr. Messenger.

A strong, and earnest appeal is being made by those who favor a clean, open minded candidate, who is not dominated by any political faction or shackled by "boss control," to support the candidacy of Dr. Messenger, a loyal Republican, interested in the welfare of his community, true to the higher principles of service, and dedicated to the intelligent and faithful administration of office. Dr. Messenger typifies the very best in the district. A vote for Dr. Messenger is a vote for a high type of politics.

Dr. Messenger's record as a private citizen in his home county is an excellent indication of the high grade of office administration that may be expected of him, when elected. That he is interested in educational matters is shown by the fact that he served as a member of the Xenia City School Board for twelve years. His attitude toward public welfare is attested to by his record as health officer of Xenia, in which capacity he served for eight years. As to public spirit his interest in the Greene County Automobile Club and other civic work places him on a high plane.

Professionally Dr. Messenger stands high in the esteem of his fellow physicians. He has been president of the Greene County Medical Society, and the Miami Valley Health Officers' Association, and served as a delegate to the last convention of the American Medical Association at Chicago.

In religion Dr. Messenger is a Presbyterian and has served as a member of the official board of the First Presbyterian Church in Xenia for more than thirty years. His popularity is shown by the fact that he is a member of many fraternal organizations and has held offices in several. During the World War, Dr. Messenger was commissioned a captain in the Medical Corps of the Army.

Dr. Messenger is the right sort of high minded American citizen, whose good sense, caution and sound judgment will result in his making good as state senator. He is the man to properly represent the people of the fifth-sixth senatorial district, in the Ohio Senate this winter and is deserving of the support of the voters of this district.

EGYPTIANS OUTDONE IN LENINE EMBALMING

The body of Nikolai Lenine, which rests on a brilliant red velvet bier in a hermetically sealed, glass-covered coffin, was exhibited to American and other foreign newspapermen.

The embalmers appeared to have accomplished something of a scientific miracle in fortifying the tissues of the dead Soviet leader against dissolution, all who knew Lenine in life say that in death he looks as natural and serene as on the day of his death. Although the medical experts who embalmed the body say that neither wax nor any coloring material was used, the face appears normal in every way, there being no indication of pigmentation of the flesh, emaciation of the body or shrinkage of the features. The embalmers even contrived to impart a smile to the face.

According to Prof. Sbarski the Russian chemists have achieved a real triumph over the ancient Egyptian embalmers, in that the Russian system made sure not only the preservation of the full contour of the body but the preservation of the features of the face. He contended the Egyptians had succeeded only in mummifying the bodies at the sacrifice of every trace of personality, while the latest method conserved everything life-like.

Prof. Sbarski said the entire cost of embalming the body was only $7500, in striking contrast to the fortunes the Egyptians spent on the bodies of their Pharaohs, nobles and high priests.

A commission of experts who examined the body expressed the opinion that it would last in its present state from thirty to forty years and perhaps longer.

But if no marked change in temperature occurred in the tomb, said Prof. Sbarski, Lenine's body should last forever. At present the temperature in the mausoleum is 68 degrees Fahrenheit.

The features of Lenine are illuminated by an electric light, the strong rays accentuating the pallor of the face and emphasizing with garish effect the crimson bed on which the body rests. Already 15,000 persons have viewed the body.

U. S. USES MORE PAPER THAN ALL OTHER LANDS

Consumption of paper in the United States, amounting to more than 3,000,000 tons a year, is greater than that of all other nations combined and, on a per capita basis, twice that of Great Britain, but despite ample resources in this country, says the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture, more than half is imported.

In a comprehensive survey of pulp wood requirements, the first ever made on a nation-wide scale, the forest service assisted by the American Paper and Pulpwood Association, declares the United States can produce its own supplies by cultivating timber crops, utilizing timber species not now in general use and increasing efficiency in production.

Nearly four-fifths of the timber now used for pulp wood, says the report, is spruce, fir or hemlock, although the Pacific coast states, Alaska and the South, contain ample quantities of timber suitable for pulpwood, which will meet our immediate needs. For future needs, the service adds it would be necessary to cultivate only a relatively small part of the 470,000 acres of forest land available having a "higher potential productivity than that of any

"June Bride" has written a book for directions for "Salt-Rising Bread." Here they are: Scald four tablespoons of white cornmeal with enough sweet milk to make a thick batter in a warm place to rise overnight. In the morning it should be quite light. To this sponge add one pint of tepid water, one teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of sugar and then stir in enough ordinary flour to make a batter as thick as cake batter (that is, an ordinary sponge). Set this sponge to rise by placing it in a bowl and then standing the bowl in warm water (keep the water about the same temperature by occasionally adding fresh hot water and taking out some of the cooled water). It should be raised light in an hour or two. Keeping it near a stove helps considerably. When light, add more flour so as to make a stiff dough of it, turn it out onto a slightly floured bread board and knead about ten minutes, then shape it at once into two loaves. Place these loaves in oiled pans and stand them in warm temperature (near a stove), covered till double in bulk. Then slip the bread pans into a moderate oven to bake for about 45 minutes like any bread. (Note: I regret that I have not more exact measurements for this bread. This receipt was kindly given me by an old housekeeper who "cooks by ear", as she jokingly told me. If any Reader Friend has a better recipe for Salt-Rising Bread I hope she will send it to me to publish here for "June Bride" or for any other reader who may like to try this unusual but delicious kind of bread.)

Today's Talks

REVENGE

The cruelest and at the same time the most foolish of all actions is that of revenge.

The person who thinks that he is going to gain anything by revenge is in the first place very unintelligent.

Revenge never brought anything but the deepest regret and unhappiness to its giver.

There are enough losses in this world without those that come about through revenge.

Wrong never has been known to right wrong.

"Father, forgive them for they know what they do," was the teaching from the Cross. And down the centuries nothing nobler has ever been taught.

I remember a beautiful sentence that came to me from somewhere when a boy: "To sin is human; to forgive is divine."

We must learn to overlook. We must learn to understand. And when we cannot understand, we must keep silent until we do.

When President McKinley was shot down in Buffalo, New York, many years ago, the first words he uttered were: "Don't hurt him!"

The time is coming when the State will not ask a life for a life.

There is quite a deal of God in every heart that throbs. The thing that must be learned is that there is a way to find that hidden God and then to make it illuminate the man.

Revenge is always the instrument of a shrunken life, an unthinking mind and an unhealthy soul.

If you have only revenge to give, give nothing.

If you are for clean politics, and a capable man with no obligations to any political "machine," mark your ballot like this:

MODISH MITZI—The Goofer Lost His Luggage.

By Jay V. Jay

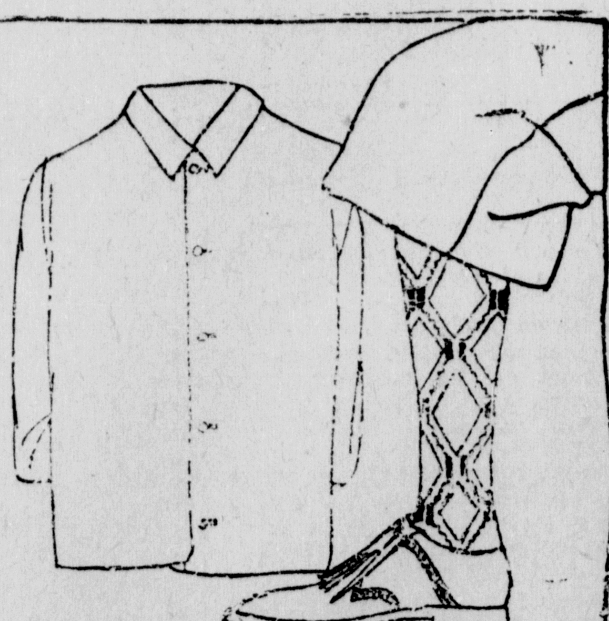

Only one piece of luggage where there used to be two is responsible for the worried and perspiring expression on the Goofer's face. The porter can give him no help. There's nothing else to do but to go to the nearest shop and replace some of the necessities and accessories for a perfect appearance.

Neckties, of course. It may have been bad luck to lose your luggage but it certainly seems a piece of good luck to happen upon three foulard ties. They are self-lined and do not crease when packed. Suspenders or braces are being worn very much now. If the braces won't do the best will.

Scotch golf hose will be very necessary and this pair in a diamond weave is extremely popular. The other socks are quiet and quite the sort of thing one can wear in town or in the country. The pipe and the Indian print handkerchief were second thoughts but none the less necessary for all that.

This shirt is of white broadcloth and the Goofer is going to get another one like it in powder blue. He will wear the foulard ties with them. The knitted plus, fairs have the advantage of being cool and very smart. The golf hose is smart in design. The Goofer after this successful shopping expedition, is entirely reconciled to the loss of his bag.

LARGE FIELDS OF CANDIDATES WILL DRAW BIG VOTE AT PRIMARY TUESDAY IS BELIEF

With a large field of candidates, both state and local, bidding for votes next Tuesday and with a number of local issues confronting voters, Greene County shows none of the apathy toward the coming primary election that is said to be prevalent over the state.

Heat, the Greene County Fair and other interests are claiming attention of voters, but the active campaigns being made by candidates and the presence of issues of more than usual local interest, leads local doers to believe Greene County will flock to the polls next Tuesday.

The number of candidates is a factor claiming interest in the campaign. Republicans will select their candidate for governor from a field of eight, of whom former governor Harry L. Davis, James A. White, former head of the Anti-Saloon League, Congressman John L. Cable and J. F. Burke, of Elyria, are considered the best chances. Other candidates are Homer Durand, who was defeated on a wet platform at the last election and who is not expected to develop as much strength as a defeated candidate as he did two years ago, Joseph B. Sieber of Akron, klan candidate, George B. Harris, Cleveland attorney, and Harry Clay Smith, Cleveland, who is colored.

Another big field is on the ticket for lieutenant governor on the Republican ticket. The candidates are: J. F. Atwood, Clinton D. Boyd, John H. Chester, Roland G. Davis, Henry I. Emerson, Asher A. Galbreath, John F. Harrison, Charles H. Lewis, David A. Liggitt, John E. McCrehen, Carl A. Magee, Edwin Reed and George W. Shanklin.

Thad Brown is again running for secretary of state and getting his opposition from Edward J. Hummel, Joseph T. Tracy is unopposed for state auditor and Harry S. Day has no opposition for state treasurer. C. C. Crabbe, attorney general, is opposed for re-nomination by Bert B. Buckley and Wesley L. Grills.

For judge of the supreme court there are two to elect with five in the field. The candidates are: James I. Allread, Harlan F. Burkey, Frank W. Geiger, Reynolds R. Kinkead and James E. Robinson. Judge C. H. Kyle of Xenia is opposing Albert H. Kunkle of Springfield for re-election to the court of appeals, only one to elect this time.

Charles Brand of Urbana, is unopposed for re-election from the seventh congressional district as representative in the lower house. Paul H. Cresswell of Xenia is opposing Dow Aiken of Bellefontaine for member of the state Republican committee in this district.

Real local interest thrives on the race being made for state senator by three Greene County candidates, Harry H. Darst, Beaver Creek Township farmer, L. T. Marshall, local Republican leader and Dr. A. C. Messenger, well-known Xenia physician are making the campaign warm throughout the fifth-sixth senatorial district.

For representative from Greene County in the lower branch of the State Legislature, Greene County is offering its first woman candidate in the person of Miss Mary B. Ervin of Xenia. D. D. Williamson, New Jasper Township farmer and former county commissioner and J. F. Gordon, Jamestown, are the other two candidates. M. A. Broadstone has his name on the ballot for judge of probate court without opposition for the party endorsement but he will be opposed by S. C. Wright, present deputy, in the regular election in November.

Clerk of Courts Harvey Eliam is being opposed for re-nomination by F. A. Charles of Jefferson Township. Morris Sharp, serving his first term as sheriff, is unopposed for the nomination although it is said he will have opposition in November. Nine Greene County candidates would like to be county commissioner and are seeking the Republican nomination.

John A. North and George N. Perrell, Xenia, are incumbents who want to be re-elected. Former Representative W. B. Bryson of Xenia Township, Fred Barnard of Alpha, Bert Beam of Spring Valley, George B. Early of Jefferson Township, J. Harve Lackey of

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 8.—Republicans and Democrats alike were assailed today by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor for "dodging the child labor issue."

At the time Robert M. LaFollette was warmly lauded for his valiant efforts to "save the children of America."

The council charged that the Republican platform upon which President Coolidge is running, does not recommend ratification of the child labor amendment passed by congress.

Democrats similarly were hit for failure to urge ratification but John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate was not specifically mentioned by the council.

Devoting virtually its entire session today to a discussion of the child amendment, the council issued an appeal to workers anywhere to unite in a strenuous campaign to secure its ratification by the states.

PERSHING ON LAST ARMY INSPECTION

Washington, Aug. 8.—General John J. Pershing left Washington today for his farewell tour of the army.

He will inspect the citizens military training camps from New York to Denver and will then return to the capital to complete final plans for the defense day mobilization test on September 12. This tour will be the last one which Pershing will make of the nation's camps and his last inspection of the troops which he has commanded as chief of staff, as his military service will come to a close on Defense Day. During the western tour he will spend a few days with relatives in Lincoln, Neb.

Pershing's itinerary includes: August 15, Camp Perry, Ohio; August 31, Findlay and Columbus, thence direct to Washington.

FRUIT PROSPECTS IN OHIO DECLINE

Columbus, Aug. 8.—Fruit prospects in Ohio declined during the past week for the federal-state crop report-month, declared C. J. West, satisfying bureau, here today. The tobacco crop outlook is only fair, due to adverse weather, and the condition of the potato crop is slightly below last year.

The yield of hay per acre is 25 percent higher than last year, West said. Because of the heavy crop during the past month, the Ohio apple yield is estimated at less than half a crop. Outlook for pears and grapes is not as good as a month ago. Indications are for a poor crop of melons. Blackberries are plentiful. In a number of counties, buckheat acreage has increased.

JOHN A. NORTH COMMISSIONER CANDIDATE MAKING RACE ON RECORD OF FIRST TERM

Mr. John A. North, who is a candidate for his second term as Greene County Commissioner, has made a record during his first term which in itself commends him to the courtesy of a second term. An extract from the report of the State Examiner J. S. Clifton as recorded in a well known county paper is as follows:

State Examiner J. S. Clifton is strong in his praise of Commissioners North, Perrill and Eavey and says their care and efficiency has saved the County thousands of dollars. Greene County in the past three years is one of eight in the state that has decreased its indebtedness when all of the remaining eighty increased theirs. After deducting the road bonded indebtedness, (which is really not a charge against the county) and money in the interest and sinking fund, the indebtedness of Greene County is less than $100,000, a good statement when compared with some counties having about the same duplicate with an indebtedness of seven million dollars."

Mr. North was born and raised on a farm and remained there until he was nineteen years of age. Having been raised on a farm he is familiar with the problems of the farmer and is deeply interested in the welfare of the rural communities. After leaving the farm Mr. North travelled for the King Powder Company in the West and then came to this city where he went into the heating and plumbing business and has continued successfully in the same line of business for 44 years. His firm is the oldest in the city today that has not had a change of ownership or partnership in its career. His business dealings have made him well and favorably known throughout the county and "John North and the Gurney System" have become household words throughout the community.

Mr. North has served his home city in various ways. He has been Mayor of Xenia, a member of the City Council and a member of the City Board of Education. As a member of the City Council he was mainly instrumental in having the special grade on South Detroit Street established. As a member of the City Board of Education he served as Chairman of the Building Committee when the Spring Hill and East Market Street schools were built. The two handsome buildings are a matter of personal pride to him.

In all of his public service Mr. North has given conscientious untiring efforts to the furthering of all that he believed to be for the best interests of the community and has won the confidence and esteem of the people of the county, a large number of whom feel that he is entitled to the courtesy of a second term as a mark of appreciation of his excellent record in his first term.

JAMES A. WHITE

"During the course of his speaking campaign up to this time, Mr. White has indicated his position on the public questions of the day in a way which cannot be misconstrued. His public utterances have been absolutely free from vilification or abuse. He has accused no candidate of being dominated by any political organization or faction and has denied vigorously and emphatically that he is the candidate of any clique or gang. He has made it clear that as chief executive of Ohio he would be unbiased and unbossed and in a position to give Ohio a clean, economical, law-upholding administration of public affairs in the interests of all the people.

"In view of his determination to conduct a clean, manly, dignified campaign there has been nothing of the spectacular or sensational attending his meetings. His appeals have been to the common sense and logic of the Republicans of Ohio rather than to their prejudices and it is very improbable that his public utterances during the remaining days of the campaign can be classified as politically sensational.

"But I confidently expect these next two weeks will demonstrate," said Mr. Huntington, "that the slogan 'We Will Win With White' is not merely a foray into the fields of euphony, but a genuinely prophetic assurance to the Republicans of Ohio who hope to see the complete restoration of Republican rule in a Republican State."

LOVE - OR FAME?

By
VIOLET DARE

AUTHOR OF "THE HALF-TIME WIFE"

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

DOROTHY LANE goes to New York to visit a friend and try to break into the movies. She soon gets started, and through the friendship of

LAWRENCE FRENCH, a young publicity man, gets an engagement with

JOHN SEWARD, "the great lover of the screen," who falls in love with her and asks her to marry him. However, she cares more for French, but is not sure that he cares for her. She has an unfortunate experience with

EIKHORN, one of the big producers, and decides to go back home and give up her career, when French gets her a part in a picture being made in the country by

CARL BANNING. French follows her to the country and proposes to her. Banning persuades them not to be married at once, and French goes back to New York. The star of the production,

CRYSTAL MAY, does all that she can to make things unpleasant for Dorothy. Crystal refuses to do a dangerous leap, and Banning gives that scene to Dorothy. Dorothy realizes that it will mean a great deal to her career if she does it, and goes through with it, though she is much frightened. Later she learns that Crystal has insisted on having that scene cut out.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

LI—ONE MORE HEARTBREAK.

LARRY's letter had been hastily scrawled at a desk in the Algonquin Hotel in New York—headquarters for motion-picture and theatrical people.

"Have a special assignment to go to the Coast with Nanette de Nallie," he wrote. "She's going out there to do a picture, and B. is a famous novelist—'Is going along; a great party, with a private car and everything. I'm to do special publicity, talk over her picture with her and the way a story of his can be adapted so that she can do it—have a grand time."

"And I want you to come down here at once, sweetheart, and marry me. Then you can go too. Well, I have a stateroom out in the regular train, and can play around with these people as much as we want to, yet be by ourselves. We can start a day early, if you want to, and stop off to show your husband to your family."

"Wire me what train you'll catch and I'll meet you."

A honeymoon on the Coast—right away—and I couldn't go. It seemed to me that my heart would break. Here I'd thought that my coming up to the country to work in this picture was wonderful, and it had brought me such a lot of trouble.

But I'd given my word to Banning, and even though few of the people whom I'd known in the motion-picture industry bothered about a little thing like that, I felt that I'd have to stick to it. I knew that Banning was hurrying to get through with the picture for reasons which he hadn't told me; a story that was quite similar was being made by somebody else, and he had already worked out a big advertising and exploitation scheme that would fall flat if somebody else beat him to it.

A scenario editor who had worked for him had gone over to one of the other companies and sold them the main plot of this very story, and so, of course, Banning was working against time. So he simply couldn't afford to lose the time that he'd be behind if I left him and he had to send to New York for some one else, and take my scenes again. I hadn't needed him to tell me that.

Then, too, this picture simply had to make money, because stock in it had been sold in small towns throughout the country; Janet Powers had told me that some time before. The people had a good chance to gain by their investment—and a wonderful chance to lose, if the picture fell through. And I felt, not unreasonably, that quite a big part of the responsibility for its success rested on my shoulders.

So I went into the hotel and wired Larry that I couldn't come.

Then I went to my own room to write and explain to him. It was almost too much for me. When I thought of the wonderful time we would have had on that trip together, and how proud I'd have been to take him back home and show him to mother and dad and my sister and everybody, I wanted to lie down on the floor and just howl. And when I realized that it was possible—or would have been, if things had been just a little bit different—for me to marry Larry at once, which was the thing I wanted to do more than anything else in the world—well, I just thought I'd have to give up the struggle and run away to New York when I thought of that.

I know that my eyes were horribly swollen when I went down to supper that night. But I'd mailed my letter to Larry, telling him all about everything, and I felt sort of peaceful in my own mind, even though Crystal May did giggle and whisper to her mother when I came into the dining-room.

Tomorrow—A Tempest in a Teapot.

THIRTY DEAD OR MISSING AFTER DANCE FLOOR FALLS

Divers Employed to Recover Bodies From Buckeye Lake After Disaster—Victims Attending Colored Lodge Meeting.

Buckeye Lake, O., Aug. 8.—Five divers at daybreak this morning resumed their search in the waters of Buckeye lake, for bodies of persons missing since the collapse last night of part of the dancing pavilion that extended out over the lake. The dead and missing were among thirty or more persons, hurled into the watery grave as the floor at the south end of the dance hall collapsed under the weight of a large number of dancers seeking their wraps in the checkroom. The crowd became panic stricken. Men, women and children seemed to be "sucked down" into the lake. Screams were heard throughout the park as those being drawn into the water grabbed others nearby, pulling them beneath the watery surface.

The list of dead so far obtainable: Miss Lucy Linn, Martis Ferry, O. Miss Josephine Hall, Moxahala Ave, Zanesville.

Hazel Ramey, 19, Zanesville. Lowell Powell, 3, Chillicothe. Mrs. Myrtle Ford, Lancaster. Jerry Wright, Columbus. Mrs. Albert Dickinson, Ohio Ave., Columbus.

The missing: Miss Edna Claire, Lancaster, O. Miss Cora Shackelford, Columbus. Katie Hoston, Circleville, O. Bessie Johnson, Circleville.

One more dead is believed to be in the water.

The injured: Miss Emma Crump, Cambridge, O. Mrs. George Watkins, Coshocton. Thelma Burton, Lancaster.

The victims, all colored, were from all parts of the state and were attending the annual picnic of the I. B. P. O. E. of Zanesville. Winding up the day's program a happy and weary group made their way to the dance hall, a large crowd gathering on the floor.

At the close of one of the dances at 8:20 p. m. a large crowd congregated near the checkroom. Witnesses said that the floor swayed a little, then cracked like the sound of a pistol. Then the victims began to slide into the water.

Miss Mary Treib, a young girl of sixteen, who was operating a concession near the hall, heard the screams of those drowning, leaped into the waters, and succeeded in saving several women and children. Others also leaped into the water and saved those who managed to keep themselves above water.

A call was immediately sent for divers and a squad of deputy sheriffs from Newark took care of the large crowd that gathered.

The first victim was removed from the water shortly after the floor caved in. The remainder were then brought out at intervals of ten to thirty minutes.

Several of the injured were rushed to the Newark hospital where their

TWENTY THOUSAND VISIT FAIR ON THE "BIG DAY" THURSDAY

Twenty thousand people attended the Greene County Fair Thursday, the annual "big day" of the fair, according to unofficial estimates given by fair officials.

The attendance total does not set a record, as the number is slightly lower than last year, while last year's attendance was lower than the year before. The number is considerably lower than the peak year of 1920, when the attendance broke all records and 28,000 were on the grounds on Thursday of fair week.

Good weather greeted the thousands who wended their way through the grounds Thursday, while showers Wednesday evening contributed their share towards laying the dust, and making the track fast as lightning.

Picnickers were much in evidence over the grounds while the exhibits, displays and various sorts of amusements were well attended by the pleasure-seeking populace.

The Red Cross booth in the main art hall was kept busy throughout the day giving demonstrations on child care. Health charts and valuable statistics were offered patrons by the nurses in charge while much information regarding the care of the young was given.

The state health exhibit also proved popular with the fair goers who took great interest in the moving pictures accompanied by health talks giving demonstrations and figures on certain diseases and their preventatives.

A sea of race fans packed the big grandstand and lined the fences and quarter stretch to witness the races which were run off in fine shape.

Good weather has also been forecast for Friday, the final day of the fair.

FIVE KILLED WHEN TORNADO CARRIES DAMAGE IN PATH

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 8.—Five persons are dead today, a score or more injured and property damage running into thousands of dollars was recorded as a result of two tornadoes which leveled twenty square miles of growing grains, many farmhouses, barns, a cannery factory, uprooted trees and destroyed wire communication in western Wisconsin late yesterday, according to advices received here over crippled wires.

A second tornado followed in the wake of the first.

Houses, barns, trees, telephone and telegraph lines were wrecked and many homes were reported unroofed at Black River Falls.

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 8.—Heavy damage was inflicted at Stockton, Ill., by the cyclone which prostrated wires in Illinois and Iowa today, according to fragmentary reports received here.

Early reports stated that Stockton, a town of 1,500 inhabitants was nearly wiped out by the storm.

FLYERS MAY RESUME FLIGHT IN A WEEK

London, Aug. 8.—America's around-the-world flyers, now at Reykjavik, Iceland, may resume their flight within a week. Lieutenant Lowell Smith has been advised by seamen that ice binding the Greenland coast probably will loosen within a week. Meanwhile the airmen are held in Reykjavik with little to do but promenade up and down the two-block shopping district, buy white sheepskin rugs, sealskin boots and bone cigarette cases, while the girls of Reykjavik, shy and dressed in quaint peasant costumes with tiny black silk tasseled skull caps, come up and bashfully shake hands. The planes were hauled up on the beach and overhauled after it was found that flying on to Angmagssalik, Greenland, still was impossible. A Danish ship, with needed supplies, still is locked in the ice off that Greenland port.

FIREMEN INJURED IN SERIOUS BLAZE

Philadelphia, Aug. 8.—A watchman is missing and five firemen are injured as the result of a fire which destroyed the coconut oil plant of the Gorgas-Pierre Manufacturing Company, and damaged the adjoining plant of the Bibebe Linseed Company early today.

DEFENSE WILL CLOSE CASE BY MONDAY, SAID

Darrow Will Only Use Few More College Friend Witnesses.

Criminal Court, Chicago, Aug. 8.—Counsel for the defense in the Leopold-Loeb trial changed their tactics today.

At a conference of the lawyers who are seeking to save the two collegians from the gallows, it was decided to put on the witness stand "only a few more" of the large number of lay witnesses, college classmates and friends of the boys who were summoned to testify concerning the so-called oddities and eccentricities that marked their school careers.

This decision will enable the defense to close its case by Monday, according to Clarence Darrow, chief of the defense counsel. Two more alienists, it was said, probably will be put on to testify the mental condition of "Babe" and "Dickie."

The first witness put on the stand today was Dr. Robert Bruce Armstrong, the Loeb family physician at Charlevoix, Michigan, who testified that he had treated Loeb several years ago, when the boy had a series of fainting spells following an automobile accident. "Were these spells normal or abnormal?" asked Darrow.

"I thought they were the result of the accident," replied the physician. States Attorney Crowe apparently considered Dr. Armstrong's testimony so unimportant that he did not cross examine him at all.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Testifying for the defense at the hearing of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, Miss Lorraine Nathan, 18, was questioned at length.

She said she had known Loeb "very well," that she went with him to parties and dances, and that he often called at her house. She told of Loeb acting in a peculiar manner at her home, and said at one time she remarked to her sister that Loeb, who had bragged of drinking, appeared to be acting very young. "My sister said: 'That isn't acting young, that's acting cuckoo!'"

Miss Nathan said she went auto riding with Loeb on Feb. 29, 1924; that he drove recklessly and nearly had several accidents. "I pleaded with him to drive more carefully, but he only laughed at me," said the girl.

In June, 1923, the witness said, Loeb made a trip to Birmingham. Before he left, she said, she noted he appeared irrational and irresponsible. "We had a quarrel and I told him if he was going to continue that way, our relationship would have to be changed—that I would be willing to be like a sister to him, but nothing more. He tried to get one of his friends to intercede for him and finally we had a date. This time he seemed very haggard and nervous."

Darrow then turned the witness over for cross-examination, and State's Attorney Crowe began questioning her regarding her friendship with Loeb.

"I suppose Dickie was fond of you?" Crowe asked. "I think he was."

"And you were fond of him?" "I was."

"Are you still fond of him?" "No, of course not—not in that way."

"Being a lady, of course, you would not like to help him, would you?" "I would not."

The girl drew back in a startled manner when Crowe charged up to the witness stand with a huge volume containing a statement Lorraine made shortly after the arrest of the slayers. Crowe said he wanted to show the difference between her statement to him and the testimony she was giving.

Wrangle Follows.

Darrow objected as Crowe stood beside the girl and placed the volume before her. A heated wrangle followed, during which Crowe said: "I have a perfect right to show whether a witness is perjuring himself or herself."

Justice Caverly then ordered the attorneys to prepare their arguments on the question.

Max Schray of Chicago, a student of the University of Michigan at the time Loeb attended the university, declared on the stand that his impression was that Loeb was "childish in his actions."

State's Attorney Crowe asked Schray whether he had not, in a conversation with the state's attorney, given his opinion that young Loeb was "perfectly sane and normal?" "I can't say that I recall that," the witness replied.

"Don't you remember being questioned by the state's attorney?" "Yes, sir, I do."

"And you don't remember telling us this?" "I remember saying I thought Loeb was sane, but I don't remember saying anything about his being normal."

Crabbe Withholds Reply.

Columbus, Aug. 8.—Attorney General C. C. Crabbe again declined to reply to the charges of Commerce Director Cyrus Locher that his fight against the blue sky commission and the Ohio Industrial Endowment Fund company was prompted by political motives. The attorney general declared that he would issue a statement after he had appeared before the grand jury as a witness, but until that time he would have no comment to make.

WILL SHE BE AMERICA'S FIRST WOMAN GOVERNOR?

Mrs. Marion A. Ferguson, of Temple, Texas, wife of ex-Governor James Ferguson, shown here with her two daughters, may be the first woman Governor in the United States. Her husband was impeached and driven from office as Governor, and she ran in the initial primaries this year to vindicate his name. She ran second, and under the Texas laws the two leading candidates are the only candidates in the run-off of the primaries. Ex-Governor Ferguson, who managed his wife's campaign, is leading the fight to secure the election for her.

Rise In Farm Prices has not led farmer "Out of Woods" Truax says in warning

(Editors Note: In an effort to learn precisely what the effect of recent advances in price of certain farm products will have upon the farmer, the International News Service sought the opinions of notable high in state agricultural circles. This is one article of the series.)

BY CARL L. TURNER,
I. N. S. Correspondent.

Columbus, O., Aug. 8.—Although disclaiming any attitude of pessimism, Charles V. Truax, director of agriculture in an exclusive interview with International News Service today, declared the recent ascension of corn, wheat and hogs prices has by no means led the farmer "out of the woods" and urged that "undue optimism" be guarded against.

"The press has been deluged with

SURCHARGES MAY BE ABOLISHED NOW

Washington, Aug. 8.—At a hearing at St. Paul, Minn., on Aug. 26, the whole question of Pullman rates, as well as surcharges, will be opened by the interstate commerce commission.

A possible result is that the surcharge will be abolished and Pullman rates fixed to yield fair returns.

Opposition, especially by commercial travelers' organizations, to the Pullman rate proper and the surcharge of 50 per cent that goes to the railroad companies, has led to one interstate commerce commission investigation into the surcharge and to bills to abolish it.

The 50 per cent surcharge is not a war measure. It was authorized by the interstate commerce commission in 1920 to help increase the revenues of the roads.

The travelers' organization, through D. K. Klink, secretary-treasurer of the railroad committee, says that the surcharge is "unjust, uneconomic and discriminatory." They point out that through it the railroads collect $36,000,000 a year, and that last year it collected $37,000,000.

RUHR QUESTION TO DELAY CONFERENCE

London, Aug. 8.—Evacuation of the Ruhr was the most difficult task confronting the allied reparations conference today and it may prolong the sessions into the middle of next week. Optimism was expressed in all circles, however, that it would be solved satisfactorily.

Committees of experts began work early in the day on the proposals of conference committee number two—dealing with economic evacuation of the Ruhr—and number three—dealing with transfers of reparations from the Germans to the allies. It was hoped that an agreement could be reached before night.

This agreement will be submitted to the council of fourteen.

reports that prosperity has returned to the farmer, that farm mortgages are being paid off, that automobiles are being purchased, and that the farmer, figuratively, is well and happy." Director Truax recalled.

"All of this is untrue and should be discouraged," he said, "since it causes many of our citizens, unfamiliar with conditions, to really believe the farmer is prosperous and actually making money again."

"It is undeniable, however," Truax conceded, "that the advance in prices of certain of his products will have a very evident positive effect upon the morale of the farmer and that it will give him renewed courage to carry on. Farmers who are selling their wheat today for $1.25 a bushel undoubtedly will be benefited financially and greatly encouraged," the director of agriculture said.

"But, what the agriculturist wants to know," he added, "is what the price of wheat will be for the next twelve months—what will come he worth when he has his crib full and ready to sell, and what will hogs be worth this fall and next spring when he has them fat and ready for market?"

"The advance in wheat to the producer, approximately thirty five cents a bushel more than year—on a normal crop means about $24,000,000 more to wheat growers than last year. But when this sum is divided among 6,448,343 farm in the United States, it doesn't mean so much."

"While the farmers are extremely grateful for these advances, yet to bring agriculture products to a common level with other commodities today, wheat should be netting the producer $1.50 per bushel, hogs 12 cents per pound, cattle the same price and other products in proportion."

Back of the entire American agricultural problem, according to Truax, is the ever present lack of a common level of agricultural commodities with those of other industries and labor.

Normally, he said, the amount invested in farms and equipment in the United States represents a total of seventy eight billion dollars, while the total investment in other industries combined only represents a total of seventy three billion dollars.

Other industries were said to be profiting at the expense of the agrarian while agriculture is bigger than all other industries combined. Prosperity thus derived, therefore, cannot be permanent, or, to use the words of Director Truax, "it is a plain case of the tail wagging the dog."

The reasons for these unequal conditions, he said, is the fact that there has been established in this country a system of protection and stabilization by the government for all industries save agriculture, referring to tariff, the interstate commerce commission and utilities commission.

"However, when farmers seek legislative relief," Truax continued, "it is said he is suffering from an economic ailment and therefore cannot be cured by a legislative remedy, yet all other industries have cured their economic ills by similar remedies."

Co-operative marketing associations, which he said, are rendering valuable service to the producer, without increasing the cost to the consumer, will help solve the problem, the agriculture official opined, but he said it was a certainty they could not cure the ill.

"The farmer does not seek special privilege or favors," he declared. "He asks neither bonus nor subsidy, but he does ask for a square deal."

"It is high time that prices of farm products were advanced to a common level with those of the commodities necessary to his existence. Two years more of the drastic inflation through which the farmer has passed would be too dark to picture."

"But until these cooperative levels are reached, or the cost of operating expenses, commodities and taxes are reduced and equalized the farmer will not attain that degree of prosperity rightfully his by reason of agriculture being America's foremost and greatest industry."

PERCY M'FARLAND
FUNERAL THURSDAY

Funeral services for Percy McFarland, 52, who died suddenly at his home near Gladstone Monday evening at 5 o'clock, were held Thursday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, at the Gladstone Church, with interment at the Grape Grove Cemetery.

Death was caused by apoplexy followed by paralysis. For several days Mr. McFarland had operated a threshing machine and Monday afternoon while he was moving the machine from one farm to another, he was stricken on the road. He was removed to his home and death ensued a few hours later.

Mr. McFarland, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George McFarland, was born near Gladstone and had lived in that vicinity all of his life. He was married to Miss Stella Adkinson who with four children, Ralph of Miami, Fla., Alice, Mary and Winifred, all at home, survives.

LARGEST RAIL MERGER BEING PUSHED AHEAD

Plan Includes Absorption Of Four Roads By Nickel Plate.

New York, Aug. 8.—Plans were going forward today for what is said to be the largest railroad merger in history, the absorption by O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, owners of the Nickel Plate system, of four other railroad properties. The proposed consolidation, an outline of which became known today, involves $1,500,000,000 capital and nearly 11,000 miles of track.

The roads to be taken over by the Nickel Plate—the New York, Chicago and St. Louis, the Erie, Pere Marquette, Chesapeake and Ohio and Hooking Valley, Wheeling and Lake Erie with the Pittsburgh and West Virginia may be taken in later, it was reported, although not mentioned in the preliminary announcement.

The method by which the merger is to be consummated will be through exchange of stock and through liquidation of physical properties and is subject to the approval of the interstate commerce commission.

The method of the proposed merger are to be submitted to the various boards of directors at meetings to be called immediately and formal offer will be made to stockholders before the end of the month, it was said.

Larger stockholders of each of the roads involved, it was said, have agreed to the terms.

The Nickel Plate company stock, it was said, would be issued in two classes, a six per cent cumulative preferred stock and a common stock to be put on a six per cent dividend basis from the time of issue.

The general terms to be offered stockholders of the various roads are said to be as follows: For Erie first and second pfd. stocks, fifty per cent in preferred stock of the new company; for Erie common forty per cent in new common stock; for Pere Marquette, prior preference stock 100 per cent in new preferred stock; for Pere Marquette pfd. stock 90 per cent in new preferred stocks, for the common stock 85 per cent in new common stock; for Chesapeake and Ohio six and a half per cent preferred stock, 115 per cent in new 6 per cent pfd. stock; for Chesapeake and Ohio common stock 55 per cent in new common stock; for Hooking Valley common stock now owned in controlling amount by the Chesapeake and Ohio fifty per cent in new six per cent preferred stock and fifty per cent in new common stock.

GERMANY ACCEPTS ALLIED PROPOSALS ON DAWES QUESTION

London, Aug. 8.—Germany has accepted in full the allied proposals for settlement of the reparations questions on the basis of the Dawes recommendations, it was announced here.

The acceptance includes the allied declarations regarding possible defaults on the part of the government of the reich and the methods of imposing penalties for such defaults. The council of 14 adopted the full text of the report of the first committee of the interallied conference.

In addition the Germans accepted a moral engagement to float a loan of £40,000,000, thereby fulfilling one of the most important of the reparations commission's requirements before the Dawes plan can be considered effective. Another important development was an agreement between the allies and Germans, under which the Dawes plan can be enforced 10 days earlier than Oct. 15, the date which had been agreed upon.

It was explained at the American embassy here that Ambassador Kellogg's letter announcing that the United States will participate in the proposed conference of ministers of finance in Paris after the conclusion of the London reparations parley does not mean that the United States is willing to discuss interallied war debts.

The United States refuses to discuss war debts at this time, maintaining they are definite financial obligations which do not admit of discussion except as to the manner in which they shall be paid.

It is understood here that the Paris conference will be confined only to discussion of the distribution of German reparations. The United States is particularly interested in this issue due to money owing on account of the upkeep of the United States army of occupation on the Rhine.

Every effort is being made to speed up the work of the allied reparations conference. A committee of experts is examining the German reply, while representatives of England, France, Belgium and Germany are conferring informally upon questions which are regarded as being outside the scope of the formal conference. Chief of these questions is evacuation of the Ruhr.

One feature of the German communication which is engaging much attention from the experts' committee is the request for greater German representation upon the arbitration boards.

BLACKHANDER IS SLAIN—ONE IS HURT

Detroit, Aug. 8.—An attempt at extortion ended in a double tragedy here. Angelo Lettori of Mount Clemens, Mich., was killed, and Mary Celetti, 22, was seriously wounded, when Frank Celetti, brother of the girl, foiled an attempt by three black-handers to extort $5,000. Three men, police were told, appeared at the Celetti home and demanded the money. When he refused, they opened fire, wounding the girl. Celetti rushed into the house and secured a shotgun, with which he killed Lettori. The other two fled. Celetti told officers he frequently has received demands for money.

FORESTERS ATTACK PROPOSED MEASURE

Columbus, Aug. 8.—The international convention of the Catholic Order of Foresters at its closing session here passed a resolution condemning Michigan's proposed constitutional amendment, which provides that all children between 6 and 14 years must attend the public schools. "The enemies of the church is the state of Michigan for the second time in the course of two years are carrying on a campaign of intolerance and bigotry," the resolution declared. The measure was branded as "a most vicious attack upon the parochial schools," and it was said that it should be defeated by such a decisive vote that "bigotry in that form will not raise its head again."

JACK WALTON IS WINNER BY 6,000

Oklahoma City, Aug. 8.—Jack Walton, anti-Ku Klux Klan candidate, won in his spectacular fight for the Democratic nomination for United States senator. Almost complete returns from the primary election give the impeached governor a lead of more than 6,000 votes over his nearest opponent, Congressman E. B. Howard.

Walton, who claimed in his campaign that he had been "railroaded from the governor's chair and crucified on a fiery cross," gained the nomination largely on the strength of his support in rural districts.

FAIR GOERS ORDERLY POLICE OFFICIALS SAY; FEW ARRESTS

The good order being maintained during fair week is unprecedented, according to police officials.

Accidents, traffic jams and other minor offenses usually incurred during congestion caused by the fair are few and far between this year, it is said.

The strict traffic regulations which are being laid down and upheld by officers is given as a reason for the absence of law violations.

Automobiles and vehicles going to the fair are required to travel by way of Detroit Street, while those returning from the festivities may come in to town by way of King or Galloway Streets.

Speeding and reckless driving is being closely watched with the result that there is little chance for infringement of the traffic rules.

Contrary to former years, the traffic in the business section of the city has not been as congested as is usually the case due no doubt to the late harvesting season which has kept many of the farmers away from town.

Fifty-five citizens up until Thursday have made use of the absent voters ballots at the board of elections, according to Earl Short, clerk.

An average of a hundred voters who expect to be absent from the city at the time of the primary, August 12, register their votes with the board every year, it is said.

Citizens will remember that Saturday, August 9, is the last day granted for the privilege of voting ahead of time. The county clerk's office, where the voting takes place, will be open until 12 a.m. on that day.

A last minute rush to make use of the ballots is expected by board officials, who say that as in previous years, a greater use is made of the ballots during the last two days of grace than at any previous time.

TELL GIRLS

And Women What I Do For You

By Edna Wallace Hopper

My office sends me countless letters which thank me for new beauty and new youth. Please don't do that. Just tell to other girls and women what you've found.

I am simply passing on to others what great scientists gave me. The helps that made me a famous beauty, then kept my youth and beauty to grand old age.

Those helps number 52, but I have had them combined in four preparations. When you use any one of them you apply quite a number of the best beauty helps in existence.

One is a cold cream which I call my Youth Cream. It combines products of both lemon and strawberry. Also all the best that science knows to foster, feed and protect the skin. I use it as a night cream, also day-times as a powder base. Never is my skin without it. I have never heard of a cream which brings anything like its results.

Now I am placing my Youth Cream—just as I use it—at every woman's call. All druggists and toilet counters supply it at 60c per jar. Also in 35c tubes. Just ask for Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream. I promise you that as long as you live you'll be very glad you know it, and I shall be glad for you.

I will send you a sample to try, of you wish. Also my Beauty Book. Just mail this coupon. For beauty's sake, do it now.

Republicans!

"We Will Win
With White!"

The fulfillment of this prophecy depends on you. Jim White is today the outstanding candidate in a field of eight seeking the Republican nomination for governor.

The one thing that makes a logical appeal to all Republicans is this: Success at the primaries will be a hollow victory unless followed by a victory at the polls in November.

The issue for Ohio Republicans to decide is, "who can restore Republican rule in a Republican state as the standard bearer of the party?"

The answer that thousands of practical political workers are giving is—"Jim White." Not only a wonderful organizer, schooled in the art of politics, he is a shrewd, careful, forceful lawyer, possessed of almost infinite energy, a dogged, relentless determination, yet possessed of the softer and more generous qualities which make friends and hold them.

Since the very inception of the campaign, Jim White has been the outstanding candidate. The batteries of every headquarters have been turned against him in an effort to loosen his hold on the loyalty and affection of the good citizens of Ohio. But against all the tides of opposition, against the campaign of misrepresentation by his ancient enemies, his candidacy has grown.

Today the drift toward White is steadily mounting. Republicans are rapidly being converted to the view that White's availability is pre-eminant because of the chances of success in November with him as the standard bearer.

The primary election is mighty important, but incidental. The real goal of the Republican party of Ohio lies some months ahead. Realizing this, it is little wonder that even the practical, seasoned politicians of the party are aiming at this conclusion:

"We Will Win

DR. MESSENGER FOR SENATOR

Republicans of the fifth-sixth senatorial district, of which Greene County is a part, are witnessing a three cornered race for the office of state senator. Their attention has been directed, during the campaign to the candidacy of three men, Dr. A. C. Messenger, prominent local physician, and man high in the regard of the citizenship of his own, and other counties; L. T. Marshall, long prominent in factional politics of Greene County, and H. H. Darst, Beaver Creek Township farmer, and former Dayton bank president.

The result of this triangular contest will be decided at the polls next Tuesday, August 12, at which time voters in five counties, Highland, Greene, Ross, Clinton, and Fayette, will cast their ballots for one of the three candidates.

The race has not been without its fireworks. There has been some mudslinging, and the usual attempts to discredit opponents with the voters, but in the main the contest has been without unbecoming sensation. Most interesting to the followers of the three contestants has been the remarkable headway made by Dr. Messenger, who by dint of sheer ability and perseverance has established himself with the voters of the district. The gains made by the physician are considered the more unusual because of the absence of organization support. His campaign has been of the personal sort, a direct appeal to the voters, and he has, through his own personality and influence of many friends, attracted to his standard a large following in the district.

Friends say his nomination is certain; that he will carry without doubt three of the five counties in the district, and has an excellent chance to walk away with honors in the remaining two. That, however, will be shown when the votes are counted. In the meantime interest centers in qualifications of the three respective candidates, a study of which seems to throw the honors to Dr. Messenger.

A strong, and earnest appeal is being made by those who favor a clean, open minded candidate, who is not dominated by any political faction or shackled by "boss control," to support the candidacy of Dr. Messenger, a loyal Republican, interested in the welfare of his community, true to the higher principles of service, and dedicated to the intelligent and faithful administration of office. Dr. Messenger typifies the very best in the district. A vote for Dr. Messenger is a vote for a high type of politics.

Dr. Messenger's record as a private citizen in his home county is an excellent indication of the high grade of office administration that may be expected of him, when elected. That he is interested in educational matters is shown by the fact that he served as a member of the Xenia City School Board for twelve years. His attitude toward public welfare is attested to by his record as health officer of Xenia, in which capacity he served for eight years. As to public spirit his interest in the Greene County Automobile Club and other civic work places him on a high plane.

Professionally Dr. Messenger stands high in the esteem of his fellow physicians. He has been president of the Greene County Medical Society, and the Miami Valley Health Officers' Association, and served as a delegate to the last convention of the American Medical Association at Chicago.

In religion Dr. Messenger is a Presbyterian and has served as a member of the official board of the First Presbyterian Church in Xenia for more than thirty years. His popularity is shown by the fact that he is a member of many fraternal organizations and has held offices in several. During the World War, Dr. Messenger was commissioned a captain in the Medical Corps of the Army.

Dr. Messenger is the right sort of high minded American citizen, whose good sense, caution and sound judgment will result in his making good as state senator. He is the man to properly represent the people of the fifth-sixth senatorial district, in the Ohio Senate this winter and is deserving of the support of the voters of this district.

EGYPTIANS OUTDONE IN LENINE EMBALMING

The body of Nikolai Lenine, which rests on a brilliant red velvet bier in a hermetically sealed, glass-covered coffin, was exhibited to American and other foreign newspapermen.

The embalmers appeared to have accomplished something of a scientific miracle in fortifying the tissues of the dead Soviet leader against dissolution, all who knew Lenine in life say that in death he looks as natural and serene as on the day of his death. Although the medical experts who embalmed the body say that neither wax nor any coloring material was used, the face appears normal in every way, there being no indication of pigmentation of the flesh, emaciation of the body or shrinkage of the features. The embalmers even contrived to impart a smile to the face.

According to Prof. Sbarski the Russian chemists have achieved a real triumph over the ancient Egyptian embalmers, in that the Russian system made sure not only the preservation of the full contour of the body but the preservation of the features of the face. He contended the Egyptians had succeeded only in mummifying the bodies at the sacrifice of every trace of personality, while the latest method conserved everything life-like.

Prof. Sbarski said the entire cost of embalming the body was only $7500, in striking contrast to the fortunes the Egyptians spent on the bodies of their Pharaohs, nobles and high priests.

A commission of experts who examined the body expressed the opinion that it would last in its present state from thirty to forty years and perhaps longer.

But if no marked change in temperature occurred in the tomb, said Prof. Sbarski, Lenine's body should last forever. At present the temperature in the mausoleum is 68 degrees Fahrenheit.

The features of Lenine are illuminated by an electric light, the strong rays accentuating the pallor of the face and emphasizing with garish effect the crimson bed on which the body rests. Already 15,000 persons have viewed the body.

U. S. USES MORE PAPER THAN ALL OTHER LANDS

Consumption of paper in the United States, amounting to more than 8,000,000 tons a year, is greater than that of all other nations combined and, on a per capita basis, twice that of Great Britain, but despite ample resources in this country, says the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture, more than half is imported.

In a comprehensive survey of pulp wood requirements, the first ever made on a nation-wide scale, the forest service assisted by the American Paper and Pulpwood Association, declares the United States can produce its own supplies by cultivating timber crops, utilizing timber species not now in general use and increasing efficiency in production.

Nearly four-fifths of the timber now used for pulp wood, says the report, is spruce, fir or hemlock, although the Pacific coast states, Alaska, and the South, contain ample quantities of timber suitable for pulpwood, which will meet our immediate needs. For future needs, the service adds, it would be necessary to cultivate only a relatively small part of the 470,000 acres of forest land available having a "higher potential productivity than that of any other pulp and paper country in the world."

"June Bride" has written a book for directions for "Salt-Rising Bread." Here they are: Scald four tablespoons of white cornmeal with enough sweet milk to make a thick batter in a warm place to rise overnight. In the morning it should be quite light. To this sponge add one pint of tepid water, one teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of sugar and then stir in enough ordinary flour to make a batter as thick as cake batter (that is, an ordinary sponge). Set this sponge to rise by placing it in a bowl and then standing the bowl in warm water (keeping the water about the same temperature by occasionally adding fresh hot water and taking out some of the cooled water). It should be raised light in an hour or two. Keeping it near a stove helps considerably. When light, add more flour so as to make a stiff dough of it, turn it out onto a slightly floured bread board and knead about ten minutes, then shape it at once into two loaves. Place these loaves in oiled pans and stand them in warm temperature (near a stove), covered till double in bulk. Then slip the bread pans into a moderate oven to bake for about 45 minutes like any bread. (Note: I regret that I have not more exact measurements for this bread. This receipt was kindly given me by an old housekeeper who "cooker by ear," as she jokingly told me. If any Reader Friend has a better recipe for Salt-Rising Bread I hope she will send it to me to publish here for "June Bride" or for any other reader who might like to try this unusual but delicious kind of bread.)

REVENGE

The cruellest and at the same time the most foolish of all actions is that of revenge.

The person who thinks that he is going to gain anything by revenge is in the first place very unintelligent.

Revenge never brought anything but the deepest regret and unhappiness to its giver.

There are enough losses in this world without those that come about through revenge.

Wrong never has been known to right wrong.

"Father, forgive them for they know what they do," was the teaching from the Cross. And down the centuries nothing nobler has ever been taught.

I remember a beautiful sentence that came to me from somewhere when a boy: "To sin is human; to forgive is divine."

We must learn to overlook. We must learn to understand. And when we cannot understand, we must keep silent until we do.

When President McKinley was shot down in Buffalo, New York, many years ago, the first words he uttered were: "Don't hurt him!"

The time is coming when the State will not ask a life for a life.

There is quite a deal of God in every heart that throbs. The thing that must be learned is that there is a way to find that hidden God and then to make it illuminate the man.

Revenge is always the instrument of a shrunken life, an unthinking mind and an unhealthy soul.

If you have only revenge to give, give nothing.

If you are for clean politics, and a capable man with no obligations to any political "machine," mark your ballot like this:

FOR STATE SENATOR

MODISH MITZI—The Goofer Lost His Luggage.

By Jay V. Jay

Only one piece of luggage where there used to be two is responsible for the worried and perspiring expression on the Goofer's face. The porter can give him no help. There's nothing else to do but to go to the nearest shop and replace some of the necessities and accessories for a perfect appearance.

Neckties, of course. It may have been bad luck to loose your luggage but it certainly seems a piece of good luck to happen upon three foulard ties. They are self-tied and do not crease when packed. Suspenders or braces are being worn very much now. If the braces won't do the best will.

Scotch golf hose will be very necessary and this pair in a diamond weave is extremely popular. The other socks are quiet and quite the sort of thing one can wear in town or in the country. The pipe and the Indian print handkerchief were second thoughts but none the less necessary for all that.

This shirt is of white broadcloth and the Goofer is going to get another one like it in powder blue. He will wear the foulard ties with them. The knitted plus, fairs have the advantage of being cool and very smart. The golf hose is strict in design. The Goofer after this successful shopping expedition is entirely reconciled to the loss of his bag.

LARGE FIELDS OF CANDIDATES WILL DRAW BIG VOTE AT PRIMARY TUESDAY IS BELIEF

With a large field of candidates, both state and local, bidding for votes next Tuesday and with a number of local issues confronting voters, Greene County shows none of the apathy toward the coming primary election that is said to be prevalent over the state.

Heat, the Greene County Fair and other interests are claiming attention of voters, but the active campaigns being made by candidates and the presence of issues of more than usual local interest, leads local dopesters to believe Greene County will flock to the polls next Tuesday.

The number of candidates is a factor claiming interest in the campaign. Republicans will select their candidate for governor from a field of eight, of whom former governor Harry L. Davis, James A. White, former head of the Anti-Saloon League, Congressman John L. Cable and J. F. Burke, of Elyria, are considered the best chances. Other candidates are Homer Durand, who was defeated on a wet platform at the last election and who is not expected to develop as much strength as a defeated candidate as he did two years ago, Joseph B. Sieber of Akron, klan candidate, George B. Harris, Cleveland attorney, and Harry Clay Smith, Cleveland, who is colored.

Another big field is on the ticket for lieutenant governor on the Republican ticket. The candidates are: J. F. Atwood, Clinton D. Boyd, John H. Chester, Roland G. Davis, Henry I. Emerson, Asher A. Galbreath, John F. Harrison, Charles H. Lewis, David A. Liggett, John E. McCrehen, Carl A. Magee, Edwin Reed and George W. Shanklin.

Thad Brown is again running for secretary of state and getting his opposition from Edward J. Hummel. Joseph T. Tracy is unopposed for state auditor and Harry S. Day has no opposition for state treasurer. C. C. Crabbe, attorney general, is opposed for re-nomination by Bert B. Buckley and Wesley L. Grills.

For judge of the supreme court there are two to elect with five in the field. The candidates are: James I. Allread, Harlan F. Burkey, Frank W. Geiger, Reynolds R. Kincaid and James E. Robinson. Judge C. H. Kyle of Xenia is opposing Albert H. Kunkle of Springfield for reelection to the court of appeals, only one to elect this time.

Charles Brand of Urbana, is unopposed for re-election from the seventh congressional district as representative in the lower house. Paul H. Cresswell of Xenia is opposing Doug Aiken of Bellefontaine for member of the state Republican committee in this district.

Real local interest thrives on the race being made for state senator by three Greene County candidates. Harry H. Darst, Beaver Creek Township farmer, L. T. Marshall, local Republican leader and Dr. A. C. Messenger, well-known Xenia physician are making the campaign warm throughout the fifth-sixth senatorial district.

For representative from Greene County in the lower branch of the State Legislature, Greene County is offering its first woman candidate in the person of Miss Mary B. Ervin of Xenia. D. D. Williamson, New Jasper Township farmer and former county commissioner and J. F. Gordon, Jamestown, are the other two candidates. M. A. Broadstone has his name on the ballot for judge of probate court without opposition for the party endorsement but he will be opposed by S. C. Wright, present deputy, in the regular election in November.

Clerk of Courts Harvey Elam is being opposed for re-nomination by F. A. Charles of Jefferson Township. Morris Sharp, serving his first term as sheriff, is unopposed for the nomination although it is said he will have opposition in November. Nine Greene Countians would like to be county commissioner and are seeking the Republican nomination.

John A. North and George N. Perrell, Xenia, are incumbents who want to be re-elected. Former Representative W. B. Bryson of Xenia Township, Fred Barnard of Alpha, Bert Beam of Spring Valley, George B. Early of Jefferson Township, J. Harve Lackey of Ross Township and R. S. Townsley, Cedarville Township, are the other candidates. B. F. Thomas for recorder, W. J. Davis for surveyor and R. L. Haines for coroner, are unopposed. Frank H. Dean and J. Carl Marshall are after the nomination for prosecuting attorney. There are county central committeemen to elect in each precinct.

On the Democratic ticket the gubernatorial incumbent, A. V. Donahy, is opposed for the nomination by James C. B. Beatty. Four candidates for lieutenant governor are Howard C. Black, Earl D. Bloom, James I. Fogarty and Frank S. Krause. J. H. Newman and Lester C. Riddle are opposing each other for secretary of state.

Four candidates are in the field for auditor, including H. Sage Valentine, Floyd Atwill, Daniel E. Butler, J. H. Kauffman and Harry E. McCollister. For treasurer of state, E. E. Denune is opposed by Hamilton G. Dewessa. Three candidates are seeking the attorney general nomination. They are B. F. McDonald, present prohibition commissioner, Thomas H. Morrow and Dennis F. Dunlavy.

For judge of the supreme court the candidates are J. D. Clark, Walter H. Kinder, A. F. O'Neill and George A. Starn. D. W. Younker is candidate for the court of appeals. C. K. Wolf, Beaver Creek Township farmer, is the only candidate for representative in Congress from the seventh district and Paul H. Dye of Urbana is unopposed for member of the state central committee.

For county offices, David H. Keiter of Xenia and A. D. Kendig, Beaver Creek Township, are unopposed for the nomination for county commissioner, there being two to elect. E. D. Stroup is running without opposition for the Democratic nomination for county treasurer.

For county treasurer, A. J. Furstenberger, of Xenia, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for Representative.

Hundred Women Released.

Marysville, O., Aug. 8.—One hundred women were released from Marysville reformatory as a result of the court and board of clemency ruling that a woman should not spend more time in the reformatory for commission of a crime than the law prescribes that a man shall spend in jail for a similar offense. This reduced the reformatory population to 200.

FRUIT PROSPECTS IN OHIO DECLINE

Columbus, Aug. 8.—Fruit prospects in Ohio declined during the past year for the federal-state crop report-month, declared C. J. West, statistical bureau, here today. The tobacco crop outlook is only fair, due to adverse weather, and the condition of the potato crop is slightly below last year.

The yield of hay per acre is 25 per cent higher than last year, West said. Because of the heavy crop during the past month, the Ohio apple yield is estimated at less than half a crop. Outlook for pears and grapes is not as good as a month ago. Indications are for a poor crop of melons. Blackberries are plentiful. In a number of counties, buckheat acreage has increased.

BOTH PARTIES HIT BY LABOR ATTACK

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 8.—Republicans and Democrats alike were assailed today by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor for "dodging the child labor issue."

At the time Robert M. LaFollette was warmly lauded for his valiant efforts to "save the children of America."

The council charged that the Republican platform upon which President Coolidge is running, does not recommend ratification of the child labor amendment passed by congress.

Democrats similarly were hit for failure to urge ratification but John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate was not specifically mentioned by the council.

Devoting virtually its entire session today to a discussion of the child amendment, the council issued an appeal to workers anywhere to unite in a strenuous campaign to secure its ratification by the states.

JOHN A. NORTH COMMISSIONER CANDIDATE MAKING RACE ON RECORD OF FIRST TERM

Mr. John A. North, who is a candidate for his second term as Greene County Commissioner, has made a record during his first term which in itself commends him to the courtesy of a second term. An extract from the report of the State Examiner J. S. Clifton as recorded in a well known county paper is as follows:

State Examiner J. S. Clifton is strong in his praise of Commissioners North, Perrill and Eavey and says their care and efficiency has saved the County thousands of dollars. Greene County in the past three years is one of eight in the state that has decreased its indebtedness when all of the remaining eighty increased theirs. After deducting the road bonded indebtedness, (which is really not a charge against the county) and money in the interest and sinking fund, the indebtedness of Greene County is less than $100,000, a good statement when compared with some counties having about the same duplicate with an indebtedness of seven million dollars."

Mr. North was born and raised on a farm and remained there until he was nineteen years of age. Having been raised on a farm he is familiar with the problems of the farmer and is deeply interested in the welfare of the rural communities. After leaving the farm Mr. North travelled for the King Powder Company in the West and then came to this city where he went into the heating and plumbing business and has continued successfully in the same line of business for 44 years. His firm is the oldest in the city today that has not had a change of ownership or partnership in its career. His business dealings have made him well and favorably known throughout the county and "John North and the Gurney System" have become household words through out the community.

Mr. North has served his home city in various ways. He has been Mayor of Xenia, a member of the City Council and a member of the City Board of Education. As a member of the City Council he was mainly instrumental in having the special grade on South Detroit Street established. As a member of the City Board of Education he served as Chairman of the Building Committee when the Spring Hill and East Market Street schools were built. The two handsome buildings are a matter of personal pride to him.

In all of his public service Mr. North has given conscientious untiring efforts to the furthering of all that he believed to be for the best interests of the community and has won the confidence and esteem of the people of the county, a large number of whom feel that he is entitled to the courtesy of a second term as a mark of appreciation of his excellent record in his first term.

JUICE OF LEMON WHITENS THE SKIN

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It cannot irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. THERE are thousands of you men and women, just like I once was—slaves to rheumatism, muscle pains, joint pains, and horrible stiffness. I had the wrong idea about rheumatism for years. ## BRINGING UP FATHER

LOVE - OR FAME?

By
VIOLET DARE

AUTHOR OF "THE HALF-TIME WIFE"

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

DOROTHY LANE goes to New York to visit a friend and try to break into the movies. She soon gets started, and through the friendship of

LAWRENCE FRENCH, a young publicity man, gets an engagement with

JOHN SEWARD, "the great lover of the screen," who falls in love with her and asks her to marry him. However, she cares more for French, but is not sure that he cares for her. She has an unfortunate experience with

EIKHORN, one of the big producers, and decides to go back home and give up her career, when French gets her a part in a picture being made in the country by

CARL BANNING. French follows her to the country and proposes to her. Banning persuades her not to be married at once, and French goes back to New York. The star of the production,

CRYSTAL MAY, does all that she can to make things unpleasant for Dorothy. Crystal refuses to do a dangerous leap, and Banning gives that scene to Dorothy. Dorothy realizes that it will mean a great deal to her career if she does it, and goes through with it, though she is much frightened. Later she learns that Crystal has insisted on having that scene cut out.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT.

LI-ONE MORE HEARTBREAK.

LARRY's letter had been hastily scrawled at a desk in the Algonquin Hotel in New York—headquarters for motion-picture and theatrical people.

"Have a special assignment to go to the Coast with Nanette de Naille," he wrote. "She's going out there to do a picture, and B"—a famous novelist—"is going along; a great party, with a private car and everything. I'm to do special publicity, talk over her picture with her and the way a story of his can be adapted so that she can do it—have a grand time. And I want you to come down here at once, sweetheart, and marry me. Then you can go too. We'll have a stateroom out in the regular train, and can play around with these people as much as we want to, yet be by ourselves. We can start a day early, if you want to, and stop off to show your husband to your family."

"Wire me what train you'll catch and I'll meet you." A honeymoon on the Coast—right away—and I couldn't go. It seemed to me that my heart would break. Here I'd thought that my coming up to the country to work in this picture was wonderful, and it had brought me such a lot of trouble. But I'd given my word to Banning, and even though few of the people whom I'd known in the motion-picture industry bothered about a little thing like that, I felt that I'd have to stick to it. I knew that Banning was hurrying to get through with the picture for reasons which he hadn't told me; a story that was quite similar was being made by somebody else, and he had already worked out a big advertising and exploitation scheme that would fall flat if somebody else beat him to it.

A scenario editor who had worked for him had gone over to one of the other companies and sold them the main plot of this very story, and so, of course, Banning was working against time. So he simply couldn't afford to lose the time that he'd be behind if I left him and he had to send to New York for some one else, and take my scenes again. I hadn't needed him to tell me that.

Then, too, this picture simply had to make money, because stock in it had been sold in small towns throughout the country; Janet Powers had told me that some time before. The people had a good chance to gain by their investment—and a wonderful chance to lose, if the picture fell through. And I felt, not unreasonably, that quite a big part of the responsibility for its success rested on my shoulders.

So I went into the hotel and wired Larry that I couldn't come. Then I went to my own room to write and explain to him. It was almost too much for me. When I thought of the wonderful time we would have had on that trip together, and how proud I'd have been to take him back home and show him to mother and dad and my sister and everybody, I wanted to lie down on the floor and just howl. And when I realized that it was possible—or would have been, if things had been just a little bit different—for me to marry Larry at once, which was the thing I wanted to do more than anything else in the world—well, I just thought I'd have to give up the struggle and run away to New York when I thought of that.

I know that my eyes were horribly swollen when I went down to supper that night. But I'd mailed my letter to Larry, telling him all about everything, and I felt sort of peaceful in my own mind, even though Crystal May did giggle and whisper to her mother when I came into the dining-room.

Tomorrow—A Tempest in a Teapot.
